*Preaching the kingdom of God and teaching

Jesus Christ with all confidence.*

--St. Luke

What is the heart of the Christian faith and the Holy Church? It is the Lord Jesus ---His life, His sacrifice on the cross, His burial and resurrection.

The whole of humanity is damned with the incurable sickness called sin, and the only antidote is the holy blood of Christ. We the people of Catholic faith believe this.

If this is true, then nothing is more important, urgent and desperate than our passion to take the Good News of hope – that the blood of Christ can heal you of all sins and that by His trampling of death under His feet, you will live forever – to all people all over the world.

One hundred years from now you will not be here on earth. What you now live with; all of it, will vanish. All you have is a brief span of time. Use this life to follow Christ and do what He called you to do. “As the Father sent Me, I also send you.”

Our icons of saints, the Theotokos, and the prophets are meant to remind us daily of the eternal values for which these men and women lived. Let us follow in the footsteps of our Catholic Fathers of the ancient Church.
