A SPIRITUAL PILGRIMAGE

JOHN PAUL II: PRAYER AFTER COMMUNION

Did you ever see Pope John Paul II pray? Each morning he celebrated Mass in his private chapel with about twenty guests. Perhaps you saw television footage of one of these Masses.

When this man knelt down to pray after Communion, he would close his eyes and go to a place deep within himself. Once he was there, nothing and no one could distract him from communing with God. What does it mean to commune with God? To share your intimate thoughts and feelings. Pope John Paul II would go to that place deep within himself and from that place he brought forth the fruit of his life: wisdom, compassion, generosity, understanding, patience, courage, insight, forgiveness, humility, inspiration, and a love so apparent you could almost touch it.

In those moments after Communion, he allowed nothing to distract him from his prayer. He let nothing draw his attention away from his Divine Visitor in those precious moments after receiving the Blessed Sacrament.

Pope John Paul II wrote, "The Eucharist is the secret of my day. It gives strength and meaning to all my activities of service to the Church and the whole world. Let Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament speak to your hearts. It is He who is the true answer of life that you seek. He stays here with us. He is God with us. Seek Him without tiring, welcome His without reserve, love Him without interruption: today, tomorrow, forever."

What is the secret to your day? Trust, Surrender, Believe, Receive.

Find that place within you. Find that place deep, deep within yourself, the place where you can connect with God and your truest self. If you do nothing else with your life, find that place, spend more and more time in that place, and begin to live your life from that deep place.

LESSON

Befriend silence, so as to find and spend time in that place deep within, where you are able to connect with your truest self and God. The more time you spend in silence, the more you will be able to live your life from that deep place.

VIRTUE OF THE DAY

Attentiveness: The virtue of attentiveness is a sign of care for others and care for the soul, which is an immeasurable gift from God. Attentive people notice things, inside themselves, in the situations and circumstances of daily life, and in other people. They notice the person in the room who is suffering the most. Sustained attention in prayer is developed by practicing sustained attention in our work and with other people. Give the person in front of you in each moment your full attention.

SPIRITUAL COMMUNION

Jesus, I believe that You are truly present in the Most Holy Sacrament of the Eucharist. Every day I long for more of You. I love You above all things, and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot receive You sacramentally at this moment, I invite You to come and dwell in my heart. May this spiritual communion increase my desire for the Eucharist. You are the healer of my soul. The blindness from my eyes, the deafness from my ears, the darkness from my mind, and the hardness from my heart. Fill me with the grace, wisdom, and courage to do Your will in all things. My Lord and my God, draw me close to You, nearer than ever before. AMEN.
